Verbs and prepositions

A Verbs with on – sentences from academic articles

Chapter 1 of Huang’s book focuses on violent human behaviour.
Sura’s article draws on data gathered over a period of ten years.
The introduction to the book comments briefly on a case study carried out in Brazil.
In this section I concentrate on the economic aspects of immigration.
The book is based on a number of studies carried out during the 1990s.
The method used by Scanlon relies on two basic principles.

B Verbs with to – teachers talk to students

We assigned the tasks randomly to the experimental group and the control group to see how the subjects would react to the different problems.
Malaria poses a major health risk to people who are exposed to infection where malaria is common. In 1997, 13% of deaths among children were attributed to malaria in one area in Zaire.

OK, let’s turn to the more difficult cases that I mentioned earlier. How should a doctor respond to a patient who doesn’t consent to treatment when it seems to be essential?

We can’t really say that an increase in inflation of two per cent amounts to an economic crisis, and I refer here to some recent stories in the media which are highly exaggerated and which can be traced to a deep misunderstanding of how inflation operates.

When you’re planning a questionnaire, you should always attend to design issues such as the number of questions and how clear they are.

<tbody>
<tr>
<td>with associate, provide, couple, equip</td>
<td>Note: In the active voice, as in the first example, this group of verbs follows the pattern verb + object + preposition + complement. Note also that these verbs are often used in the passive, as in the second example. We try to equip our laboratories with the latest technology. Heart disease is often associated with unhealthy life styles.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>from depart, benefit, emerge, exclude</td>
<td>In this book, Herne departs from his earlier theory. [takes a different view] Some of the data were excluded from the final analysis.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>of write, speak, convince, dispose</td>
<td>Abuka writes/speaks of the early years of industrial development. [both are rather formal] We must convince people of the need for water conservation.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>for account, search, call, argue</td>
<td>Lung cancer accounted for 20% of deaths in men. [formed the total of] Hopper (1987) argues for a new approach to English grammar. [opposite: argue against]</td>
